Stillness, muffled disbelief, open despair soon fell Friday upon the crowd of some 2,000 Dallas civic leaders, Texas Democrats and press at the Dallas Trade Mart.

This writer was among the unbeliving press corps when the fateful news of President Kennedy's and Governor Connally's shooting was announced.

Instantaneous shock – the same that swept the nation – pervaded the futuristic hallway as Eric Johnson, chairman of the program, announced in grief - muted tones that incredible tragedy had struck just 15 blocks from the Hall. The President was en route to address the group.

A first announcement, shortly after the assassin's bullets struck, said "there had been a mishap", its extent not yet passed on to the people in the Mart.

Then came the second.

Reporters, politicians, businessmen, their wives, policemen – all were diminished. A prayer was invoked. Many sat down once again. Others went to their parked cars to hear radio reports, or stood, mute.

Upon reflection, one remembers that shrill sirens of the President's escort, their purpose yet unrealized, had screamed by the Mart while the crowd was dining, racing the stricken President and Governor to Parkland Hospital.

Soon after, Dallas newsmen assigned to cover the President's speech dashed down the isles of tables and out of the building. Other men gathered minutes later in front of the main banquet table centered by the Great Seal of the President and a special chair for Mr. Kennedy.

While many already were outside the Hall, the third announcement, the ultimate devestation of the day, came. Only then did those thousands move in grief, in shock without comprehension, to their cars.

Most, like myself, drove from the hall, amidst heavy, obedient traffic. Three businessmen, unable to find a cab to downtown, asked for a ride. Quietly, they entered. All of us poured our intent into radio reports of this history.

One of the three expressed appreciation for the ride. I replied something and at their destination expressed regret at such a sorrowful meeting. None wished to believe what was grim fact. At such moments, that is the effect of history.

President Johnson by then had taken the oath of office and was returning to Washington, where he is in his sixth day of new responsibility.

Governor Connally is recovering satisfactorily, quickly.

The affairs of state continue.

SCOUTS DONATE — Mr. E. A. Perrin, chairman of the Building Committee for the new Cameron Library, smiles his appreciation as he is handed a $50 donation from Scout Charles Angell. Representing Explorer Troop 54 of the Boy Scouts, Angell made the donation Friday at the Cameron Library. Assistant Counselor Larry Schiller looks on at right. Dinner To Honor Milton Schiller

A group of Burleson, Milam and Robertson County friends of State Representative Milton Schiller announced plans to honor him with an appreciation dinner on December 12, 1963 at 7:00 p.m.

The dinner will be held in the National Guard Armory in Cameron and will be open to the public. Tickets for the occasion will sell for $1.50 and will be available for both Ladies and Gentlemen from all the towns of the three County Districts represented by Mr. Schiller.

Those who have already signified their intention to attend the dinner are Atty. Gen. of Texas Waggoner Carr and Speaker of the House Byron Tunnell, Sen. Wm. "Bill" Moore of Bryan and several other State Senators and Representatives of Central Texas.

Milton Schiller in his first term in the Texas Legislature brought honor and dignity to the 45th Legislative District. His committee assignments were to some of the most important committees in the Texas House. It has been many years since a representative from this District has been a member of so many important committees. His membership on the important Appropriations Committee was unique for a Freshman House Member.

The dinner on December 12 will give the people of the 45th District, Burleson, Milam and Robertson Counties, an opportunity to show their appreciation of this fine legislator.

The wife of the late Dr. Tom R. Lutner, who was a former practicing physician in Cameron, was a school teacher. She taught for a number of years in the Cameron Public Schools and in the schools at Globe, Arizona.

She is survived by a son, Tom R. Lutner Jr. of Lake Charles, La.; two daughters, Mrs. Roger Rainey of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Raymond Young of Oakland, Calif.; three grandchildren and one brother, Mack Draghn of Hattiesburg, Miss.

Taylor Upsets Rockdale Tigers In Bi-District 9-7

The Taylor Ducks upset the heavily favored Rockdale Tigers in Bi-District play last Friday night and won the right to go into Regional play.

Taylor's Ducks will meet the San Saba eleven Friday night at Killeen Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

What happened to the Rockdale Tigers is still a mystery to people in the area. They had gone through the entire season without having a touchdown scored on them and had also racked up large margins in every game. They had also defeated the Ducks earlier in the year 13-0.

But Friday night the Ducks won the distinction of not only being the first team to score on them all year but also of defeating them 9-7.

Rockdale went through the season allowing but five points to 10 opponents and appeared on it's way back to the State Class AA finals for the second year.

In Friday night's game Rockdale hit the scoreboard first when halfback Ronnie Menn went five yards to a touchdown and then kicked the seventh point.

Taylor fought back for all it's points in the second quarter.The Ducks put six points on the board as halfback Rodney Marek crashed over from the two, but the conversion try failed and Rockdale still led 7-1

Later in the same period the hosts put the winning points on the board when Mike Tennill kicked a 21-yard field goal.

Rockdale threatened once when they drove to the 1-yard line, but received a 15-yard penalty that moved them away from the near score.

Taylor was content to play a defensive and punting game throughout the final two periods, but their strategy took them to the Regional playoffs.

San Saba defeated West, 11-8 at Killeen Friday night to advance while Katy defeated Livingston 42-14 and Liberty beat Forest Park 30-8 to move into the regional play in the bracket with Taylor-San Saba.

Rites Held For Mrs. C. Brashear

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Brashear, 88, who died at her home at 1708 North Fannin Saturday, were held from the Church of Christ in Cameron Mon. Services were conducted by Mr. Don Gibson with burial in the Salem cemetery.

Mrs. Brashear was born in Grimes County May 16, 1875, but had lived around Cameron most of her lifetime.

Survivors include two sons, J. W. Brashear of Cameron and C. E. Brashear of Houston; four daughters, Mrs. Ruby Small of Cameron, Mrs. Irene Tompkins of Victoria, Mrs. Alice Todd and Mrs. Jewell Smalley, both of Cameron; three sisters, Mrs. Walter Burney of Fort Worth, Mrs. Ed Cartwright of Bastrop and Mrs. Parolee Brashear of Cameron; 14 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Marek-Burns Funeral Home in Cameron was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Noble Small Jr., David Brashear, Danny Brashear, Sid Brashear, Bobbie Joe Brashear and Johnnie Lee Miers.

Parade Floats Prizes Increased

Cameron's Christmas Parade date of December 6 is rapidly approaching and the prizes for the first and second place float entries have been increased, according to Mrs. Barbara Smitherman, Secretary - Manager of the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce.

The first place winner will receive $20 while the second place will receive $15 and the third place winner $5.

Thus far about 20 units entered the parade but Mrs. Smitherman said she was expecting far more to contact her in the next few days.

Parade marshall for this year will be Albert McCullin Jr.

A new route has been set for the parade through downtown Cameron. The units will meet at the corner of Crockett and Main, near the First Baptist Church as in the past. They will march down Main Street to Central, to West 2nd back to Houston and will march down Houston Street and disband at the Cameron Lumber Company corner.

Judges will be stationed at the corner of Houston and Main and will be able to view entries twice before judging them.

Lineup time for the parade is 4:15 p.m.

Mrs. Smitherman urges any group wanting to enter the parade to contact her as soon as possible so their placement in the parade can be set.

Bloodmobile Due In Cameron On Dec. 3

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Cameron December 3 for its regularly scheduled visit. Donations of blood will be taken from 12 noon until 6 p.m. at headquarters set up at the First Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

The goal is to have 225 prospective donors to show up in hopes of receiving at least 150 units of blood in order to make up the deficiency of blood received in previous visits.

Eugene Smitherman, chairman of the North Milam area, has headed a pledge drive for donors. Workers have been contacting residents for their pledges for two weeks and have an approximate 150 donors thus far.

"Extra effort to bring the North Milam quota up to par is being made, thus far we have fallen short of our 70 pint quota on each visit," Smitherman said.

Cook Trial Reset For December 9

Counsel Withdraws

The counsel for Oscar F. Cook, charged with murder, was granted his motion to withdraw from the case and the trial was reset for December 9 in District Court action Monday.

Attorney Charles C. Smith Jr.of Cameron filed his motion to withdraw as Counsel for the Defendant. Judge John Patterson of Marlin who will try the case, granted Smith's motion.

Judge Patterson reset the murder trial for Monday, December 9, and informed Cook that he would appoint one or more attorneys to represent him.

The trial had been set for December 2.

Oscar Cook, 24, of Rogers, is to be tried for the murder of his former mother-in-law, Mrs. Dan Crow of Davilla on April 17.

He has been held in the Milam County Jail on charges of murder with malice awaiting trial.

Proceedings of the trial in early October were brought to an abrupt halt when Cook changed his plea.

District Court Acts On Cases

On Thursday of last week, Nov. 21, 1963, John B. Henderson Jr. reported the following transpired in Milam County District Court, Judge W. C. Wallace presiding:

Clarence Ray Kelley, 19 of Calvert, pled guilty to operating a motor vehicle without owner's consent and received a two-year probated sentence.

W. J. Loftin pled guilty to the offense of swindling with worthless check. He was assessed a term of five years in the penetentiary. Loftin's address is Odessa, Texas.

January 15, 1964 was the date selected for the trial of the murder case now pending against Thelma Pittman in the District Court of this county.

Darrell Shuffield was arraigned on the murder with malice aforethought indictment returned against him by the Milam County Grand Jury on November 15. Shuffield pled not guilty to this indictment. His $15,000 bond was continued by Judge Wallace. The case against Shuffield will be tried during the month of February, 1964 according to the attorneys and Judge Wallace.

Col. Fisher Assumes Directors Position

ELLINGTON AFB, Tex. - Lt. Col. Max L. Fisher of Bertram, Tex., has arrived here to assume the position of director of plans and programs, Headquarters, Civil Air Patrol.

Col. Fisher formerly was commander of the 42nd Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron at Toul-Rosieres AB, France.

The colonel, son of Mrs. Mamie L. Fisher of Rogers, attended Baylor University and Florida State University. He holds a B. S. degree.

School Board Sets 1963-64 Tax Rate

The Cameron School Board voted an across-the-board increase of the total valuations of properties in the Cameron Independent School District in a meeting last Thursday.

Current budget is set at $171,000, an increase of $40,000 over last years $131,000 budget.

The Cameron School Board has issued the following statement regarding their decision for the school tax for 1963-64.

"Early in 1963, the School Board of the Cameron Independent School District entered into tax equalization program with the Southwestern Appraisal Company of Dallas.

"Due to the enormity of the program, the majority of the Board felt that it could not be completed sufficiently to be used for the 1963 tax rolls.

"This program will be completed during the next tax year thereby allowing the Board of Equalization sufficient time to complete its study and work on this vital issue.

"Until the program has been completed, and in order to have sufficient money to operate the school this year, it was decided to recommend to the Board of Equalization to use 1962 values and to make such increase as is necessary to meet the current budget of $171,000. from local taxes.

"This increase is for the 1963 tax year only and is based on an across the board increase on 1962 values.

"The increase in school budget is necessitated by payment of the tax equalization program, reduction in State funds, and to take care of such needed repairs as are necessary.

"The School Board wishes to take this opportunity to thank all of the interested citizens who appeared in the interest of the program and also ask the cooperation of the entire district in meeting this emergency".

LOCAL CHURCHES OBSERVE SERVICE OF THANKSGIVING

Churches in the Cameron Ministerial Alliance held their annual Thanksgiving Service Wednesday, November 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church.

Rev. Wm. B. Waldrop, minister of the Batte-Town Baptist Church, delivered the Thanksgiving sermon.

Other ministers in the alliance rendered portions of the Community Service.

Emmett Carson, Education and Music director of the First Baptist Church, directed the Community Choir in special numbers befitting the occasion. Mrs. Hilliard Thomas, Methodist organist, accompanied the group at the organ.

OFFICIALS PLAN GRAND OPENING AT CITY SITE

The fertilizer plant now under construction in Cameron by Eastern Seed and Fertilizer Company, Ltd., is rapidly nearing completion, and company officials have made plans for a grand opening on December 7.

The plant, located near the Santa Fe Railway tracks in south Cameron, is a 132 by 50 ft. sheet metal structor. Mr. Gene Nash, in charge of construction, said early this week that machinery and equipment for processing fertilizer was being installed.

When completed, the facility will cost approximately $40,000.

The plant will handle dry fertilizer and has equipment for mixing or blending it in different proportions to suit the requirements of different soils. The fertilizer ingredients – phosphates, nitrogen and potash – will be shipped in to the plant and processed here.

Fertilizer will be sold in bulk and will be put up in boxes in one ton amounts. It also will be put up in 50 pound bags. Farmers, ranchers and other landowners can have it delivered to them in this area and distributed on their land by the companys equipment, or they can rent machines and do this themselves.

Lawrence Rosenback, who has been associated with Eastern Seed and Fertilizer Company for several years, will be manager of the fertilizer plant.

Yoeman Schedule Slowed By Rosebud's Football Success

The Yoemen Basketball schedule is getting off to a slow start with their first two games with Rosebud being cancelled since Rosebud is still playing football.

Other complications created the necessity of even more changes, according to Coach George Kirk.

A game with Conally, originally set for November 29, was played November 26. They will play Conally again on December 2.

The Rosebud game will be played later in the season.

Cameron Yoemen will get into full swing under Coach Nick Greer December 6 and 7 when they play in the Conally tournament. On December the 10th they will play Rogers, here; December 13 and 14, play in the Tempie tournament; (the B-team will play in the Thrall Tournament); Thorndale, there December 16 Thorndale, here January 7.

District play will get underway January 16 when Cameron hosts Hearne. January 17 Rockdale plays Cameron, here; January 21, A&M in Cameron; January 24 Navasota, there; January 28 Caldwell, there.

TOWN and COUNTRY NEWS

County Agent Notes

Cotton Crop High In Milam County

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

OCTOBER 1 COTTON REPORT - There were 18,571 bales of cotton reported for Milam County as of October 1, according to the Texas crop reporting office in Austin. The final report will not be ready to announce before June 1964. There were some 39,100 acres of cotton planted in 1963 according to the local ASCS office. October 1, 1962, there were 15,313 bales reported.

The final report for bales produced in 1962 was 15,757 bales, according to Carey D. Palmer, agricultural statistician in charge of the reporting office. Cotton allottment acreage for Milam County is around 40,000 acres. The trend in cotton acreage has been on the decline during the past few years.

Cotton is a cash crop for Milam County and should not be abandoned without consideration. Production cost records will be a "must" for those who stay in the business whether it be crops or livestock. For those interested in farm records, Mr. Billy Freeman, area Farm Management specialist, stationed at Stephenville, is available for this type of assistance.

Those interested in farm production cost records may contact the county agent for this type of assistance.

PECAN & FOOD SHOW -Pecan entries should be turned in by December 5, in order to be ready for judging on December 6. Entries will consist of one quart of pecans either improved or native. Those entries in the Rockdale area may be left at the Chamber of Commerce office. In Cameron, the Cameron area entries may be left at Anderle Lumber Co. or the county agent's office.

ASCS

The State ASC Committee has determined that the maximum quantity of feed grain which may be approved for purchase by an applicant under the emergency Livestock Feed Program to be ten pounds per day per animal unit for Group I livestock.

Heretofore, the daily allowance rate for all classes of livestock was five pounds per day, according to Alva E. Sanders, office manager of the Milam County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Service. The rate will remain at five pounds per day for Group II livestock.

Milam County warehouses which have signed agreements to cooperate in the program are West Feed, Seed and Fertilizer Co. of Cameron; C. A. Forbes and Co. of Thorndale; and Buckholts Dryer Co. of Buckholts.

Farmers and ranchers wishing to purchase CCC stored grain under the Livestock Feed Program should contact the county ASCS office and file application, Sanders said.

Reading Habits Discussed At St. Anthony PTC

Mrs. W. O. Triggs spoke on "Good Reading Habits" at the St. Anthony's Parent - Teachers Club meeting Tuesday in the parish hall.

Mrs. Triggs, a member of the Cameron Public Library Board, expressed her deep affection for books and urged every family to include a book fund in their family budget.

In Club business, the group voted to give $5 to the Brownie Troop which they sponsor. Herman Hanel was appointed Chairman of a committee to study ways of using proceeds from the annual carnival.

The first grade room won the room count with the largest number of parents present.

Hostesses for the social hour following the program were Mrs. Herman Hanel, Mrs. Barney McLerran, Mrs. Joe Trdy and Mrs. Raymond Kurtz.

Screwworm Plan Helps Deer Crop

MISSION - The deer hunting season is in full swing and hunters are reminded that they, too, have a large stake in the screwworm eradication program underway in the Southwest.

Early reaction from sportsmen indicates that wild game is more plentiful than it has been in years. Estimates of 10 to 65 percent increases in the deer crop have been made.

A number of factors have been credited for the increase in deer populations, with the screwworm eradication program usually listed at the top. Some wildlife experts have stated that in past years the screwworm has accounted for the death of at least three out of every ten fawns each year.

The eradication program seeks to eliminate the screwworm through release of millions of screwworm flies that have been sexually sterilized by being subjected to atomic radiation. The sterile males mate with native fertile females and no offspring are produced. Sportsmen helped finance the program through their contributions last year.

While the screwworm appears to be on its way to extinction, the heaviest infestations of the insect presently being detected are in the areas with the highest populations of deer.

Hunters are encouraged by program officials to bring sightings of infested deer to the attention of land owners so that the cases can be reported to eradication workers. Infestations in wildlife are even more critical to the program than those in farm animals because they cannot be treated, officials state. A single undetected, untreated case can be the source for hundreds of future infestations.

Cameron Gets New Gas Rate For Summer Cooling

DALLAS - A reduction in natural gas industrial summer cooling rates available to Lone Star Gas Company's industrial accounts in Texas has been announced by L. T. Potter, President. He said the reduced rates will make natural gas for cooling available to smaller industrial consumers at approximately the same price as large consumers have been paying.

"The Company's policy of continued study of all areas of operation resulted in a recently completed analysis that projected potential additional earnings through increased use of gas air contitioning," Mr. Potter said. "The rate reduction was made because the study showed great potentials in the sale of gas under industrial rate schedules for cooling apartment houses, hotels, motels, dormitories and other large buildings used for living quarters office buildings, nursing homes and hospitals, and other structures qualifying for such rates. Although use of gas by these customers for cooling has been available at special industrial rates the new rate reductions will be substantial and will make the operating cost of gas Air Conditioning even more economical. Public schools will also get a considerable reduction for summer cooling gas costs. Lone Star believes all school buildings eventually will be cooled as well as heated."

District Manager C. M. Burke said the new summer cooling rate will be effective in Cameron on March 1, 1964 and was announced at this time by Lone Star so that customers planning to install gas air conditioning for use next summer can estimate future operating costs now.

He also said that 'to assist Lone Star's larger industrial customers in their long range plannings, a new long term contract is now available at firm prices for gas through June 30, 1968."

Lt. Harbour Home From US Air Force

Dennis Klein of Burlington passed away in a Cameron hospital. His funeral was at 3 p.m. Sunday in Rosebud. Rev. Alan Peabody of Waco was in charge. Mr. Klein leaves a wife and one daughter, Miss Virgie and a son, Eugene.

Lloyd Stoebner and family of Fort Worth visited realtives here. He and Ladis Marek of Cameron attended the ball game.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kuhn of Cameron visited Mr. and Mrs. Lu Gerngross and family Staurday night.

Mrs. Lu Gerngross is employed at the Rest Home in Cameron.

Rev. R. Durham filled his regular appointment at the Burlington Baptist Church here Sunday. He was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lindsay. Rev. Durhams mother, Mrs. J. V. Durham is to undergo surgery in a Waco hospital Wednesday morning. We hope all the members pray for her.

4-H CLUB Notes

Charles W. Henson
Ass't Milam County Agent

David Benton McClaren, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McClaren, of the Marlow community has won the honor of having the best record book on beef cattle in the Milam County.

David has been in the 4-H for six years. He started his projects with 150 Sears pullets which took first place in District Contest. The next year he had a Sears Dairy heifer and two acres of corn. His heifer placed in the red ribbon class at the County Junior Livestock Show. In his third year of club work David developed his heifer into a Grand Champion of Milam County Junior Livestock Show.

Beginning his fourth year in 4-H club work, David decided to feed a steer. His first steer was a shorthorn which won a blue ribbon at the County Show and later the same year this steer placed third at the Houston Livestock Show. The next year David had 50 Chamber of Commerce broilers, three beef calves and a cow. His calves placed second fifth and eighth in the Junior Livestock Show.

This year David has five beef calves, a cow, and 50 broilers. He is also Council Delegate for the County Wide 4-H Club.

WATCH PECANS

Pecans left on the ground during rainy or very cold weather are sure to lose quality. Besides discoloring the shell, the ment may also be damaged and therefore harvest of the nuts should be done as soon as possible after they fall.

RABIES

Rabies is often found in wild animals such as skunks and in domestic ones like dogs and cats. The disease, a virus infection spread in the saliva of infected animals, can be guarded against by vaccinating pets.

ARE VIRTUES TO BE SOUGHT?

True humility, such as is shown in this little girl's expression, is a virtue each of us need to cultivate. Everyone of us should possess the proper degree of humility, not only for our own good but for the welfare of our nation. If one has health, wealth and power and takes all credit for having them, ignoring all moral imperative, then that person is headed for downfall and ruin. So it is with a nation.

If we are humbly thankful for all blessings — and they are blessings, not just our own doing — on Thanksgiving Day we will give thanks as a nation and every day of the year as individuals. The daily thanksgiving can be in a form of a prayer for another, a helping hand extended to one less fortunate. This is as true a thanksgiving as is our thanks for those we love, who share with us both sunshine and sorrow.

And while we are being thankful let us remember our churches. They constantly remind us of our need for the virtues of humility and a thankful heart. They are the temples of God where we can give thanks and be humble and by so doing remain strong and mighty.

REPORT ON TRANSITION

THURSDAY, NOV. 28, 1963

Mr. Kennedy's Program....

John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th President

The Kennedy Years

John Fitzgerald Kennedy, the 35th President of the United States who was paid final tribute November 25, left the American people with a hope for world peace.

An assassins bullet killed the President November 22, 1963 in Dallas and he was laid to rest in the Arlington Cemetery in Washington.

During his brief three years in the President's office, he faced many crises.

FACED MANY CRISES

President Kennedy was the first American chief executive to face the possibility of nuclear war and to risk it with a show of force to protect American interests. He later succeeded in achieving an accord with Russia limiting nuclear tests.

He was confronted by a racial problem that abridged a world issue - the relationship between the black and white races.

Foreign problems, old and new, were present during his administration, including the Cold War with Soviet Russia.

Kennedy held American forces in West Berlin despite Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchevs determination to rid West Berlin of Allied occupation troops. President Kennedy also held American troops in Southeast Asia to thwart Communist penetration in that area.

Through economic help, he sought to aid Latin America, a target of propaganda from Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro. He acted in similar fashion in Africa where newly emerged nations groped their way unsteadily toward stability.

In Europe there was the problem of keeping the North Atlantic Treaty Organization intact, a problem enlarged by French President de Gaulle's announced intention not to take direction or protection from the United States.

HOME CRISIS

In the United States, President Kennedy became involved with the steel industry over a price increase which he halted, faced a nationwide railroad strike which resulted in Congressional action, fought for a tax cut which he called necessary to spur the economy and to avoid a possible recession and watched avidly the United States race into space.

The nuclear crisis broke in the waning months of his second year in office when he confronted Premier Khrushchev with a demand to remove Russian missiles set up in Cuba and pointing at the United States only 90 miles away.

On October 28, 1862, Khrushchev announced he had ordered work stopped on missile bases, said the missiles would be crated and returned to Russia and promised that the United Nations would verify the dismantling.

This was not the first crisis involving Cuba.

Kennedy then warned Communist foes and non-Communist friends that the United States would act on its own against Cubas Reds if United States security was threatened.

Although the crisis eased, Cuba remained a problem.

Cuban exiles in the United States worked incessantly for the release of family and friends captured during the ill-fated invasion of 1961. An effort to ransom the prisoners failed because of Castro's unreasonable demands.

CUBAN REFUGEES

Finally, through private negotiations a ransom of privately donated drugs and baby food was agreed upon and 1,113 imprisoned Cubans were flown to Miami just before Christmas 1962.

Kennedy greeted the men in a ceremony in the Orange Bowl and accepted the invasion flag and declared that the flag would be returned to the brigade in free Cuba.

With the Cuban crisis still simmering, West Germany Chancellor Adenauer flew to Washington to confer with Kennedy on the Berlin problem.

BERLIN ISSUE

The divided city of West and East Berlin was a dominant issue since the end of World War II.

Khrushchev took means to gain West Berlin into the East German Communist government and then stepped up his offensive by questioning the Western air access to Berlin.

The Soviets charged the United States with airlifting sabateurs and spies into West Berlin for action against East Germany and other Soviet bloc nations.

The White House, in reply to this charge, said the United States must serve a solemn warning to the Soviet Union that any interference by the Soviet government or its East German regime with free access to West Berlin would be an aggressive act for the consequences of which the Soviet government would bear full responsibility.

Kennedy issued several warnings and in June of 1963 re-emphasized this in a visit to West Germany, where he was greeted enthusiastically.

TURMOIL IN SOUTH VIET NAM

West Berlin was not Kennedy's only worry. The United States was involved with the Communists in such places as Laos and South Viet Nam in Southeast Asia.

In May of 1962 Kennedy dispatched U. S. naval, air and land forces to the Thailand-Laos border because of a pro-Communist seizure of control of most of northern Laos.

A treaty establishing the neutrality of Laos was signed by a 14-nation conference in Geneva two months later.

GREATEST DISAPPOINTMENT

In an assessment of his first year in office Kennedy told a news conference that failure to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on a nuclear test ban had been his greatest disappointment. He achieved a limited test b a n d in 1963, his third year in the White House.

In June 1963 Kennedy proposed a strategy of peace to lead t h e United States and the soviet Union out of the vicious and dangerous cycle of the cold war.

NUCLEAR TREATY

A treaty banning nuclear weapons tests in space, in the atmosphere and under water was accepted by the three nations with other nations to follow suit.

A further thaw appeared in October when Kennedy approved the sale of some four million tons of wheat to Russia and other Soviet block nations which had been hit by drought.

Kennedy saw such benefits in the deal as improvement of the balance of payments, increase in gold supplies, strengthening of the farm economy and a reduction in the U. S. wheat surplus.

This would also advertise to the world as nothing else could the success of free American agriculture.

RACIAL STRIFE

At home Kennedy found himself deep in the Civil Rights problem from the very start of his administration.

Early in 1961 Negro and white groups, calling themselves Freedom Riders, sought to break down racial barriers. There were incidents at Anniston, Birmingham and Montgomery.

Far worse rioting--two persons were killed--occured Sept. 30, 1962 when Negro James H. Meredith sought to register at the all-white University of Mississippi in Oxford. He finally registered with the aid of U. S. marshals and Federal troops.

It was the biggest clash of state versus Federal power since the Civil War.

Racial strife boiled anew in the spring and summer of 1963, spreading to other Southern states and some northern cities, as Negroes demonstrated for equal rights. Birmingham, Ala., took the spotlight when Negro mass demonstrations in April and May were countered by fire hoses and police dogs.

The President read a statement asserting the government would do all it could "to preserve order, to protect the lives of its citizens and to uphold the law of the land'.

PRESIDENTS BILL

Unrest spurred the President to send a special message to Congress in June asking it to help end rancor, violence, disunity and national shame by passing what was described as the most sweeping civil rights bill since reconstruction days.

The bill brimmed with weapons against racial discrimination in stores, hotels and other public places, in schools, in jobs and polling booths. The President called its enactment imperative.

In a move to impress Congress, Negro leaders called for a 'March on Washington.' On Aug. 28 more than 200,000 Negroes and whites marched on the Capital. Kennedy asserted the cause of 20 million Negroes had been advanced. But Congress did not hurry enactment of the Civil Rights Bill.

STEEL PRICE INCREASE

Kennedy had trouble, too, with industry. In April 1962 he cracked down on United States Steel for announcing a $6 a ton price increase after signing a wage agreement with the United Steelworkers Union.

Kennedy denounced the increase as wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible defiance of the public interest.

U. S. Steel finally backed down said they would hold the price line and Bethlehem Steel, second largest steel company, rescinded the price rise it announced following the U. S. Steel move.

A year later the administration quietly accepted selected price increases in the steel industry, although reiterating its opposition to any across-the-board rises.

RAILROAD DISPUTE

In the summer of 1963, the four-year-old dispute between the nation's major railroads and the unions over work rules faced Kennedy.

With neither side able to accede to the other and a nationwide transportation strike seemingly assured, the President sought legislation from Congress.

The action was without Federal precedent. Never in the history of peacetime labor relations had Congress ever imposed arbitration in a labor - management dispute.

SPACE PROGRAM

Kennedy followed the United States efforts to conquer space closely. Lt. Col. John H. Glenn boosted American morale by circling the earth three times on Feb. 2, 1962.

The longest American space flight ended on May 16, 1963. It was a 22-orbit 34-hour flight by Air Force Maj. Gordon Cooper.

Kennedy called it "a great achievement for our society a n d a great achievement for free men and women".

Holiday Muted By Tragedy In Texas

By Lois Sapp

, Monday, November 25, proclaimed as the day of mourning for President John F. Kennedy, was not the first day of solemn and prayerful grief for Cameron as well as the rest of the world. It was the fourth day.

President Kennedy's burial at Arlington Cemetery in Washington climaxed the dreadful event that shook the world and non-believers were forced to believe.

All schools closed along with business houses.

Cameron church doors were open, the crowds came and went, people cried without shame as they sat in silence in the holy churches.

Each with a prayer of their own as they listened to the soft music float through the sanctuary.

A crowd filled the Saint Monica Catholic church and people lined the back of the church to hear the Requiem High Mass for the repose of the soul of President Kennedy.

On Sunday churches were filled with people who flocked there looking for consolation, encouragement, strength and to offer their prayers.

Ministers seemed to anticipate the need of the people and devoted their sermons to heal and pray for the brokenhearted.

Not a person this reporter encountered spoke above a whisper and sadness shone in the eyes of all.

One man stated that "he was very emotional, but he had to believe that God works in a mysterious way and that this dreadful thing might bring peace to the world."

Cameron's reaction was like the rest of the world, that of shock and disbelief.

Friday, when the news that President Kennedy had been shot came over the radio and television stations, all work stopped and ears were glued to the sets. Some who had no radios listened through telephones. Around this reporter all was silent and a look of prayerful hope was on many faces.

The news came, President Kennedy was dead.

Downtown Cameron stood still. Some cried while some still had disbelief that this could happen in America. Voices were low, but the news shot through the town as fast as the assassins bullet.

Saturday a few residents roamed the streets and mingled slowly through the stores. No one seemed to be buying, but looking at things they apparently didn't even see. Conversation was low and infrequent.

Isn't is awful - how terrible - it can't be true - and that poor family - were the words that floated to this reporter's ears.

Flags flew at half mast, the town stood as if it were dead, too.

That was the four days of mourning in Cameron for the President of the United States.

Presidents' Death 20-Year Cycle

Seven Presidents of the United States who were elected or re-elected to the office in years divisible by the common denominator 20 since 1840 have had death in office - accompanied by violence in most instances.

Only one President not elected in such a year has died while serving his term.

The seven were William Henry Harrison, elected in 1840; Abraham Lincoln, elected in 1860; James Abram Garfield, elected in 1880; William McKinley, reelected in 1900; Warren G. Harding, elected in 1920; Franklin D. Roosevelt, re-elected in 1940 and John F. Kennedy, elected in 1960.

Mr. Kennedy was the fourth President to be assassinated.

Zachary Taylor, who was elected in 1848, was the eighth President to die in office.

in 1848.

James Monroe, elected in 1820 and Thomas Jefferson, elected in 1800 were the only two Presidents to live out their terms.

Mr. Lincoln, the 16th President, was shot by John Wilkes Booth and died April 15, 1865.

Mr. Garfield, the 20th President, was gunned down by Charles J. Guitreau on July 2, 1881 and died two months later.

McKinley, the 25th President, was serving his second term when he was fatally shot on Sept. 6, 1901 by Leon Czolgosz.

Mr. Kennedy, the 35th President, was shot November 22, 1963 and died an hour and a half later. Dallas police officials said they had an air-tight case against Lee Harvey Oswald, a pro-Castro Marxist and former U. S. Marine.

On November 24, 1963 the 24-year old Oswald was shot while being transferred to the County jail. He died just 48 hours after the assassination of President Kennedy.

Jack Leon Rubinstein, known as Jack Ruby of Dallas, was witnessed by hundreds of television viewers as he stepped in front of the cameras and shot Oswald. His slaying was believed the first in history witnessed by a nation-wide TV audience.

United States officials say they will continue the investigation so there will not have to be a question mark as to the certainty of President Kennedy's assassin.

Thanksgiving Day, 1963

Over three centuries ago, our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts, far from home in a lonely wilderness, set aside a time of Thanksgiving. On the appointed day, they gave reverent thanks for their safety, for the health of their children, for the fertility of their fields, for the love which bound them together and for the faith which united them with their God.

So too when the colonies achieved their independence, our first President in the first year of his first Administration proclaimed November 26, 1789, as "a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God" and called upon the people of the new republic to "beseech him to pardon our national and other transgressions - to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue - and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as he alone knows to be best."

And so too, in the midst of America's tragic civil war, President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday of November 1863 as a day to renew our gratitude for America's "fruitful fields," for our "national strength and vigor," and for all our "singular deliverances and blessings."

Much time has passed since the first colonists came to rocky shores and dark forests of an unknown continent, much time since President Washington led a young people into the experience of nationhood, much time since President Lincoln saw the American nation through the ordeal of fraternal war - and in these years our population, our plenty and our power have all grown apace. Today we are a nation of nearly two hundred million souls, stretching from coast to coast, on into the Pacific and north toward the Arctic, a nation enjoying the fruits of an ever-expanding agriculture and industry and achieving standards of living unknown in previous history. We give our humble thanks for this.

Yet, as our power has grown, so has our peril. Today we give our thanks, most of all, for the ideals of honor and faith we inherit from our forefathers-for the decency of purpose, steadfastness of resolve and strength of will, for the courage and the humility, which they possessed and which we must seek every day to emulate. As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words but to live by them.

Let us therefore proclaim our gratitude to Providence for manifold blessings - let us be humbly thankful for inherited ideals - and let us resolve to share those blessings and those ideals with our fellow human beings throughout the world.

NOW, THEREFORE, I JOHN F. KENNEDY, President of the United States of America, in consonance with the joint resolution of the Congress approved December 26, 1941, 55Stat.862 (5U.S.C. 87b), designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Tanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 28, 1963, as a day of national Thanksgiving.

On that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that he will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving pease, justice and understanding among all men and nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have here-unto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this fourth day of November in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty- (SEAL) eighth.

JOHN F. KENNEDY

DEAN RUSK, Secretary of State

36th President's Biography

On August 27, 1908 Lyndon Baines Johnson was born in Stonewall and his politically minded grandfather remarked, "He'll be a United States Senator some day."

That prophecy was not only borne out, but was surpassed by Johnson's actual accomplishments.

The day that Johnson took the oath of office, as the 36th President of the United States, was not the joyous occasion that one can remember with pride.

PRESIDENT TOOK OATH

In a solemn and sorrowful hour, with a nation mourning it's dead President, Lyndon B. Johnson took the oath in a hurriedly arranged ceremony at 2:39 p.m. Friday November 22, 1963.

Federal Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas administered the oath only an hour and a half after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The 55 year-old Johnson is the first Texan ever to become President.

For twenty-six years Johnson had been edging his way toward the vice presidency, the position he held until Friday afternoon.

At 29 years of age, he was elected to Congress, then in 1948 he won election to the Senate.

In 1961 he was sworn in as the Vice President of the United States.

TRIED FOR PRESIDENT

In the summer of 1960 Johnson had just been beaten by John F. Kennedy for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Mr. Kennedy summoned Mr. Johnson for a conference and asked him to run for Vice President to which Mr. Johnson agreed.

Most of his followers thought it was a mistake for Johnson to surrender his vast powers as Senate majority leader. Some called him the second most powerful man in Washington.

As vice president, he had little power and little to do and in power-conscious Washington, the vice president is a relatively obscure figure.

But he was just a heartbeat from the presidency and now Johnson has the job he had prepared for all his life.

TRAINED FOR PRESIDENT

His father and late House Speaker Sam Rayburn, a fellow Texan, groomed him for the Presidency.

Mr. Johnson turned loose this political know-how and restless energy on tasks for the President.

While serving as Vice President, he was a goodwill ambassador to foreign lands, and as a campaigner for Mr. Kennedy in 43 states in the 1960 elections, was credited with being a key factor in the narrow Democratic victory over Nixon.

He has become a special pleader for conciliation in solving racial problems and has served on the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

His civil rights speeches won him a distinguished service award from the Capital Press Club, an organization of Negro newsmen.

MAJOR ASSIGNMENT

In other major assignments given him by Mr. Kennedy, Johnson has been deeply involved in the space program as chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

A survey for the President on the proposed supersonic commercial airliner was completed by Johnson last summer.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Kennedy, who battled for the Democratic nomination in 1960, got along remarkably well. The Texan demonstrated a willingness to take on any assignment and in return Mr. Kennedy counted him in on such decisions as that of the Cuban missile blockade.

He has been a participant in many key phases of the Kennedy administration.

In 1953, five years after he was elected senator his Democratic colleagues chose him as the minority leader.

During the next three terms of Congress, the Democrats were in control and Johnson was the majority leader. Colleagues generally agreed that he had a natural knack for manipulating and bringing about a desired political end.

He was quoted as saying, "I am a free man, an American, a United States Senator and a Democrat in that order. I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a consumer, a parent, a voter and not as young as I used to be - I am all those things in no fixed order."

In the summer of 1955 Johnson suffered a 'moderately severe' heart attack. Johnson made a strong comeback and in a few years appeared fully recovered.

Johnson said in 1960 that his health, in the estimation of his physicians was "too good."

POLITICAL HERITAGE

Johnson has a rich political heritage on both sides. Both his father and paternal grand father, a confederate veteran, served in the Texas House of Representatives.

One of his paternal ancestors signed the Texas Declaration of Independence and fought the Mexicans with his squirrel rifle in 1836.

On his maternal side, he was descended from Baptist preachers and educators. His great grandfather, a Baptist leader in Texas during the Civil War headed Baylor University for two years.

When Johnson was five years old, the family moved to Johnson City, founded by one of his grandfathers. Johnson now makes his home on a large ranch there.

His educational heritage asserted itself rather tardily. When he finished high school at the age of 15 he was tired of studying. He made a trip to California and upon his return he went to work as a laborer on the highways.

WORKED THROUGH COLLEGE

His father encouraged him to go to college' so with $75 of borrowed money, he set out for Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos. To help pay his expenses there, he took a job as a janitor and worked parttime as college secretary.

After graduating with a bachelor of science degree in 1930, he taught public speaking at the Sam Houston High School in Houston for two years.

When Richard M. Kleberg of the King Ranch fame went to Congress in December, 1931, he took Johnson with him as his secretary.

In Washington, Johnson found himself in the midst of politics.

He was elected 'speaker' of the 'Little Congress,' an organization of congressional secretaries.

A few years later he returned as a Congressman to begin a long career in politics.

ROSE IN CONGRESS

Upon the death in 1937 of Rep. James P. Buchanan, Johnson announced as a candidate to succeed him. He won in the special election over 10 opponents.

Encouraged to try for the Senate in 1941 on the death of Sen. Morris Sheppard by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, he ran with more than a score of other candidates. But the contest developed into a race between Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and Rep. Johnson.

As the votes were counted, the lead see-sawed for some time but O'Daniel emerged the victor with a slim margin of 1,311 votes.

In 1948, he made another try for the Senate. This time his major opponent was Gov. Coke Stevenson, a highly popular politician who had gone through 30 years without a setback.

Stevenson led in the Democratic primary, but was short of a clear majority, necessitating a run-off election. Johnson, who ran second in the first primary, won over Stevenson in the runoff by a minute margin of 87 votes out of almost a million cast.

Johnson met his wife, the former Claudia Taylor, at a hearing in the office of the Texas Railroad Commission in Austin on Sept. 12, 1934. They were married in 1934.

Their first child, born on March 19, 1944, was named Lynda Bird Johnson and their second, born July 2, 1947, Lucy Baines Johnson.

CAMERON

SEPTEMBER 6, 1901

A memorial service was held at the Cameron Auditorium in honor of assassinated President William McKinley.

Business houses were closed and schools were dismissed for the service.

The Auditorium, then located at the corner of East 1st Street and North Central, was draped with national colors of red, white and blue and a streamer of black.

Eight On Honorable Mention

2 Yoemen Placed On All-District

The Cameron Yoemen, labeled as being the surprise team of district 19-AA with its young aggressive crew, placed two players on the all-district team.

Senior tackle Mack Koranek was named on the offensive team and Mike Perrin on the defense as a linebacker. Perrin was one of the four juniors on the defensive team.

Rockdale dominated the all-district football selection, which was natural with the Tigers winning the district title and shooting for a state final berth again this year.

However Taylor, a team Rockdale defeated early in the season ended playoff dreams with a 9-7 upset in bi-district last week.

Rockdale placed six men on the offensive team and five on the defensive unit. Three of the players made both teams.

Caldwell placed four on the offensive team and five on the defensive team with three of the players making the team both ways.

They finished district play with a 4-1 record, having lost only to Rockdale through season play.

Navasota had two on the offensive and one making it both ways, while A&M Consolidated was the other team to get a man on the team. It had a man on the defensive team. Hearne did not place a man on either team.

A&M and Cameron finished district play with 2 - 2 - 1 records. Hearne had a 1-4 district mark and Navasota failed to win a game against district foes.

The district coaches named all but one man from the senior team on the offensive unit and had four juniors on the defensive team.

Perrin was one of the four juniors on the defensive team.

Rockdales Douglas Young was the only junior on the offensive unit. Young also made the defensive unit as a linebacker. Navasota's Mike Moore and Caldwell's Richard Plemper were other guards.

Football Banquet Honors Gridmen

A crowd of over 200 persons attended the annual Football Banquet Monday night at the Methodist Fellowship Hall in honor of the Cameron football players.

In a serious and sometimes humourous talk, "Catfish" Smith, Freshman Coach at Baylor University delivered one of the most meaningful speeches ever heard at a Cameron football banquet.

Climaxing the evening was the presentation of the Booster Club trophy to the player voted most valuable to the 1963 football team. Mike Perrin, junior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perrin, was the recipient and was presented the trophy by LaVert McKinney. He was selected from a field of five boys nominated by the football team.

The seriousness of the day prevailed in the large crowd that attended. A moment of silent prayer and the the invocation was given by Emmett Carson.

John Henderson Jr. served as Master of Ceremonies. Principal Jack Hughes introduced the guests and Head Coach George Kirk gave the introduction of Smith.

"It is the quitters of the world that tarnish the country," Smith said as he spoke of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. "I have never seen one that is high in scholastics or a fine athlete tarnish the world; so put everything into what you do," he continued.

He spoke of what athletics will do for a young man. Many, he said, could not have received an education and risen up to the occasion if it was not for scholarships given in athletics.

"There are only a small percentage of youngsters who take bribes and they have a weak link somewhere," he said.

"Keep going and be a success, the things we get out of athletics is the price we have to pay. Don't let people tell you you can get things the easy way, that's the Oswalds of the world" (speaking of the accused assassin of the President, Harvey Lee Oswald).

He concluded that the cream rises to the top and warned the crowd not to follow the easy way as does a crooked river.

B-team coach Nick Greer introduced the members of the team and Bob McQueen, assistant coach, introduced the members of the varsity squad.

Senior players recognized were August Dohnalik, Mike Koranek, Ronald Kostroun, Captain Merlin Lester, Captain R. L. Mikulec, Ronald McWilliams, Larry Plentl, Craig Wallace, Clark Wohleb and Robert Moraw. (Last week The Herald inadvertantly omitted Moraw's name as a senior player.)

Other varsity gridmen honored were Kenneth Angell, George Bowman, Louis Dohnalik, John Duffy, Mike Dunston, Cliff Evans, Dennis Jistel, Laurence Laffere, Larry Paul Manley, Mike Perrin, Dicky Ponder, Donald Swanzy, Charles Wise, Edward Dohnalik and James Hosch.

Also Glenn Hughes, L. J. Matula, Mike McDaniel, Douglas McFarland, Mack McKinney, Bobby Schiller, Eugene Wallace, James Vogelsang and Donald Manley. Managers were Mark Evard, Joe Kopriva, Johnnie Elsenburg and Joe Kirk.

B-team members honored were Allen Brewer, Jimmy Davis, Joe Fisher, Johnny Fuller, Jack Glass, Bill Goeke, Tommy Graham, Wayne Hillman, Dwain Howard, James Hoskins, Arthur Jistel, Jimmy Kopriva, David Kratochvil and Trip Kuzel, John Glass.

Also Dusty Mauldin, Jackie McKinney, Leo Michalka, Don Mitchell, James Nelson, Dennis Rose, Joe Rozner, Larry Shuffield, Van Shuffield, Steve Smith, Danny Tamez, Don Tepera, Raymond Urban, John Vogelsang and Dennis Woodum.

YOEMEN BOOSTER CLUB MEETING DECEMBER 2

The Yoemen Booster Club will meet Monday night, December 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the Yoe High Agriculture Building to begin their series of meetings to boost the Cameron basketball teams.

Coach Nick Greer will be the speaker at the meeting. Club officials urged every member to attend the meeting.

Of Tragic Moment

Who in Texas was felled, who in Texas was restored, a stricken nation has committed to history.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th President, is dead. He sleeps the solemn slumber of a hero among heroes. His death is a martyrdom.

Lyndon Baines Johnson, 36th President, succeeds the fallen pragmatist, idealist, articulate advocate of the human cause.

Amid high tragedy, destiny tapped Mr. Kennedy in an instant of assassination in a Dallas motorcade. An hour later, Texas' Mr. Johnson took the oath of office before Mr. Kennedy's widow, standing only short distance from her husband's lifeless form, in casket, aboard the Presidential jet. Modern succession in such tragedy is as swift as a sniper's bullet.

The martyred President's commitment Monday to Arlington Cemetery is fulfillment of his prophetic words for this Thanksgiving, 1963:

" . . . and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He (God) will continue to guide and sustain us in the great and unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist."

His aspirations for peace exceeded any mortal's facility for their total translation; yet he made a start. His death lends life away from errant advocacy to the classic hope for moderation. In peace, there is great moderation.

The youthful President's confidence, smile and staccato rhetoric are stilled; full aware, Mrs. Kennedy, magnificent in bereavement, set an example of courage and dignity at his death befitting the fallen President. Indeed, The Washington Star, seldom favoring Mr. Kennedy's policies, observed: "He walked like a prince; he talked like a scholar." These qualities will be remembered the longer for her majesty amidst depthless grief.

It is for President Johnson to bear the great weight of the presidency, made more difficult by the circumstance of short time until 1964 as well as by Mr. Kennedy's brutal slaying.

Every American, and particularly every Texan, senses the timeless void spent in those four days. A part of each of us sent that volley of despair. Perhaps a part of each of us will relinquish dark, inexplicable rancor for understanding.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy's gravesite is marked by an eternal light, which burns the brighter for the darkness this nation and this world suffers more than he.

It is of tragic moment.

Primary Aluminum Production Sets Record In October

Production of primary aluminum in the United States set new records in October, The Aluminum Association reported today. Production of the versatile metal in October rose to 207,120 short tons, an increase of 2,045 tons over the previous record established this past August, when 205,075 tons of aluminum were produced.

Production by the nation's eight integrated producers in October, a 31-day month, was 3.9 per cent higher than output in September, a 30-day month, when 197,379 tons were produced. It was also 10.8 per cent higher than the 185,190 tons produced in October of last year, the association reported.

Production of primary aluminum during the first ten months of 1963 totaled 1,902,342 short tons, an increase of 8.3 per cent over the 1,755,825 tons produced in the corresponding period last year. The record production quarter is the third quarter of this year, with output of 601,808 tons.

The eight producing companies in the United States are Aluminum Company of America, Anaconda Aluminum Company, Consolidated Aluminum Corp., Harvey Aluminum (Inc.), Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., and Reynolds Metals Company. Olin and Revere produce primary aluminum through a jointly-owned subsidiary, Ormet Corporation.

Cameron Housing Project Annual Financial Report

The Cameron Housing Project No. 134-1 realized a total rental income of $11,990.74 for the year, or an average of $19.96 per unit per month including vacancies. In addition other charges, interest on investments, etc. totaled $560.77, a grand total of $12,551.51. Expenses totaled $9,629.13 leaving a total of $2,921.28 above expenses. The Project has investments of $10,994.59, according to Joe G. Matula, Executive Director.

Since the month of June all fifty units have been occupied except one for the month of September. And at this time we have fifteen applications on file from prospective tenants.

The tenants housed include 32 elderly people, 46 younger single and married and 69 minors totaling 147.

There were no collection losses during the year.

Directors of the Authority are Henry M. Siebman, Chairman, August Kunz, Earl Curtis, Calvin Markham and John B. Henderson Sr. Joe G. Matula, Executive Director.

Milam Co. Exceeds Savings Bond Goal

October Savings Bond sales in Milam County totaled $33,624. This announcement was made recently by Mr. Henry Siebman, Chairman of the Milam County Savings Bonds Committee.

Total sales in this county during the first 10 months of 1963 were $351,822 which represented 100.5 per cent of the 1963 sales goal.

Texas Bond sales to date amounted to $122,667,337 or 81.4 percent of the yearly sales goal.

"According to information received from the Treasury Department, 1963 Bond sales are hitting new peacetime highs. During the first 10 months of the year Bond sales nationally have increased 11 per cent over the same period in 1962. While sales have shown a fine increase, it is also noted that Bond redemptions have decreased 2.7 per cent during the same period," Chairman Siebman reported.

Johnson's Term Starts 6th Day

By Vern Sanford

JOHNSON IS PRESIDENT - Within a few hours after President Kennedy's assassination, Lyndon B. Johnson was sworn in as President. Thursday will start his sixth day in office.

Swearing-in ceremonies were performed by Federal District Judge Sarah T. Hughes aboard the presidential plane just before the jet airliner bearing the deceased president's body left Love Field for Washington.

CONNALLY RECOVERING - First encouraging news to reach the capital following the murderous attack on the president and governor was word that the operation on Gov. Connally was successful. However, he is expected to be hospitalized for at least 10 days. Gov. Connally is fulfilling his duties from his bed at Parkland Hospital in Dallas.

WATER PROPOSAL - Gov. Connally, addressing the Texas Water Conservation Association's annual meeting here, recommended a six-point program for meeting future water needs.

To harness the state's water resources the Governor recommended full development of water supplies in the central and western basins; development in eastern river basins and diversion from areas of excess to those of deficiency; proper use of underground water resources; safeguards to maintain quality of surface and ground water planning for re-use of water; and a coordinated, systematic program 'with an immediate accelerated effort.'

Floyd E. Dominy, Federal Reclamation Commission, called for grass roots leadership to push the Texas Basins Project. Proposed is $3,000,000,000 in expenditures for 83 dams and an elaborate conduit system to include a 419-mile canal along the coast. 'Industry is not attracted by water plans," stated Dominy, 'Industry wants water supplies. Lacking them here, it will go where water is available."

EXPENDITURES APPROVED - Legislative Budget Board approved plans for a $1,000,000 conference center at The University of Texas. Gov. Connally had vetoed the appropriations item because they placed "bricks over brains."

Board also authorized expenditures of $253,000 by the Parks and Wildlife Commission. Of this, $49,500 will go for conversion of Port Lavaca causeway into a fishing pier.

House Speaker Byron Tunnell, a member of the board, criticized Sul Ross College President Bryant Wildenthal for buying a $65,000 electronic computer after the legislature turned down the purchase. Tunnell asked the comptroller not to pay the bill and said he thought a legislative investigation is in order.

SEEKS IMPORT CURB - A law to back up the State Highway Commission orders voided by the courts) to curb use of steel imports on state projects has been proposed by a legislative committee.

Supreme Court has held that the 1960 "Buy America" order infringes on state law requiring competitive bidding.

OGALLALA HEARINGS - Major oil and gas industry spokesmen told the Texas Water Pollution Control Board they are going all out to protect fresh water supplies of the Ogallala formation. The formation covers 46 West Texas and Panhandle counties and extends 31,500 square miles.

James L. Sewell, president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association said: "It is our desire to form an alliance with groups in the industry or outside - who wish to protect the waters of this state." He predicted a flexible program can solve the problems without jeopardizing extensive oil and gas operations.

Last September the board's geologist recommended elimination of unlined surface pits used for disposal of oil field brines in the Ogallala area. Seepage of brine water.

TEXAS TAXES HIGH - People who think they are paying high state property and sales taxes will be interested to know they are! A study of state financing by the Legislative Budget Board reveals that the state tax burden in Texas is heavier than the national average.

A 10-year view of tax burdens - the term statisticians use to describe state taxes as a percentage of total personal income - shows Texans' "tax burden" has risen above the average for the first time.

Texans contributed only 3.7 per cent of their total income to help run the state in 1952, when the average U.S. citizen chipped in 3.9 per cent to his state.

Last year the average Texan paid 4.9 per cent of his income for state taxes, while the average in other states doled out only 4.7 per cent.

State taxes are climbing upward all over the country, but in Texas the climb has been quicker than in other states. This is due partly, because the average Texan's income has not risen as fast as his taxes, or as fast as the average income.

In 1949, average per-person income of Texans was 92.8 per cent of the national average. It was only 85.2 per cent of the national average in 1962.

FREE FOOD GRANTS DECLINE Distribution of free federal surplus foods by the State Dept. of Public Welfare decreased by more than 2,000 recipients between September, 1962 and September, 1963.

In September of last year 149,694 recipients in 87 counties and five cities were receiving free farm surplus. This year, the September number had dwindled to 147,582 persons in 88 counties and three cities. Navarro County was dropped from the list during the 12 month period, but Bee and Cameron counties were added.

BORDER DISPUTE - Texas and Louisiana officials have agreed to work out the dispute over the boundary line in Sabine Lake soon, according to Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler. They hope to do it without a lawsuit.

Texas claims that the center of the lake is the boundary, but Louisiana claims its land extends to the west bank. Oil companies are eyeing settlement measures closely.

CAR-TAX SOLUTION STUDIED Although county tax collectors have authority to levy and collect ad valorem taxes on automobiles, a study by the Texas Commission on State and Local Tax Policy reveals that only about a fourth of the state's taxing units make any effort to collect them.

When Buick builds a LeSabre -- Buick builds a high-priced car, and puts a low price on it.

Lots of cars are in LeSabre's price class, but that's where the resemblance ends. For instance: Does anybody else in LeSabre's class treat you to that gentle Buick ride or impressive Buick performance and new gas economy? No. And who else gives you 15-inch wheels, finned aluminum front brakes, extra cushioning for middle-seat travelers, and separate heat ducts and controls for the rear seat? Right again: Nobody in LeSabre's field but LeSabre. If all this makes you think a LeSabre would look awfully nice in your garage, you should see how nicely it fits a budget. You know who to see about it, of course: your Buick dealer. Who else? Above all, it's a Buick

Holiday Shoppers' Delight

Good any time but especially fitted for Christmas shoppers is this supper menu. You'll like it because it, 1—is very tasty, 2—saves on the food budget, 3—is easy to prepare on short order, and 4—most of the foods can be kept on hand.

Quick and Good Supper
Paprika Meat Balls and Vegetables
Hot Buttered Toast
Cole Slaw or Relishes
Fruit Trio Cookies
Coffee, Tea, Milk

Canned Fruit Trios
1. Pear halves, purple plums, pineapple chunks
2. Peach halves, dark sweet cherries, grapefruit sections
3. Apricots, raspberries, orange sections

Paprika Meat Balls and Vegetables

1 egg
½ cup water
½ cup dry bread crumbs
1 small onion
¾ teaspoon salt
1 lb. ground beef
2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon paprika
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 can (12 or 16 oz.) whole kernel corn
1 can (1 lb.) green beans
Butter or margarine

Mix beaten egg with water, crumbs, chopped onion and salt. Add beef and form into 1-inch balls. Brown in shortening. Pile in center of a heat proof platter. Stir paprika into soup and spoon over meat balls. Put drained vegetables at each end of platter and dot with butter. Cover loosely with foil and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) about 15 minutes. Five servings.

TRY other tasty canned vegetables with the meat balls: peas and sauerkraut, sweet potatoes and asparagus, or beets and spinach.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Philosopher Envys Congress' Ability To Go Above Debt Ceiling Without Raising It

Dear editar:

Trying to live within your budget is a problem I guess 95 per cent of the people struggle with; it doesn't make any difference how much money a man makes, his family or his government can always think of some place to put it. In fact, I know a man who has several sources of income and a neighbor was admiring his situation and said, "Man, you've got it made, you've got money coming in from three or four directions," and he answered, Yeah, and for every place it's coming in, there are two places where it's going out."

I got to thinking about this when I read an article in a newpaper last night saying Congress has raised the national debt ceiling again, and I have often wondered why I can't arrange such a system myself.

Here's the way it works: actually, the debt ceiling is 255 billion dollars. When we get that far in debt, the law says hold on, you can't go any further. But every year along about this time the government runs out of money and Congress has to raise the ceiling so it can pay its bills. Well, it doesn't actually raise it, what it does is say, look, let's keep the ceiling where it is permanently, but temporarily let's raise it a little. Over the last 15 years the celing has been ooched up to where it's now 309 billion, but the other day they had to add on another 6 billion, to bring it up to 315 billion.

You might say, if it's going to take a 315 billion dollar ceiling, why not just vote to put it there, but you don't understand. Everybody runs for office on a platform of economy, and no economy-minded Congressman is going to vote to increase the national debt, even though they do every session. This may sound like Congress' trying to vote that some movie actress' age shall forever remain 36, but that's because you don't understand national finance.

I'm not saying the ceiling is too high, I don't know how high the nation can stand for it to go, it's a pretty wealthy country, although I think maybe we could cut down somewhere, except the out ought to be in some other part of the country, not around here. Any right-thinking person knows the place to cut the national debt is in Oklahoma, not in Texas.

At any rate, I wouldn't mind living within my budget permanently if I could just find some way to raise it temporarily every few months for the next 15 or 20 years.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

MRS. DAVID CARLSON HOLMAN III

Ceremony Unites Holder-Holman

Miss Norinne Elizabeth Holder became the bride of David Carson Holman III Wednesday evening in the First Baptist Church, Cameron. Rev. L. E. Rambo performed the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Perry C. Holder of Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Holman Jr. of Houston.

The bride's long sleeve gown, a Josina Original of silk faced peau, featured a high waist effect and a controlled skirt. Sprays of re-embroidered Alencon lace, appliqued with Siamese crystals and seed pearls, adorned the gown and chapel train.

Pearls formed the open work pillbox to hold the bouffant butterfly veil of English silk illusion. The bride carried a cascade of stephanotis centered with white orchids.

Miss Carol Wihlborg was maid of honor and Mrs. Lou Martin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. They wore royal blue velveteen dresses with matching pillbox hats and carried cascases of blue tinted carnations.

James Boomer was best man and Lemuel Smith was groomsman. Ushers were Norman Holder, brother of the bride, Drayton McLane Jr., Billy Newton, B. H. Rieskohl, Robert S. Ehler and Franklin Stewart.

Thomas and Bonnie Lou Ball, nephew and niece of the bride, were candlelighters. Becky Cobb was flower girl and Miles Holder, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Robert Dedman, cousin of the bride was soloist and Mrs. C. W. Bradbury was organist.

The brides parents were hosts for a reception in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony.

Members of the houseparty were: Mesdames Barton Jackson, Charlie Friemel, Earl Moseley, A. E. Jones, Alvin Hefft, J. H. Angell, Drayton McLane Sr., Bobby Jones and Stanley Vaculin. Mrs. Florence Harper assisted two aunts of the bride, Mesdames J. R. Buckner and G. D. Holder, at the refreshment table.

Mrs. Holman graduated from Yoe High School, received her degree from Baylor University and did post graduate work at Mexico City College.

Mr. Holman graduated from Spring Branch High School, Houston, and received his degree from Texas A&M College.

After a brief wedding trip they will make their home in Houston where both teach Spanish in the Houston Public Schools.

MRS. JOHN CARROLL PEMBERTON

Vows Read For Pemberton, Bride

The First Assembly of God Church in Cameron was the setting Saturday at 8 p.m. for the wedding of Miss Rose Marie Conner and John Carroll Pemberton.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Conner of Heidenheimer, Mrs. Shelby Fox of San Angelo and Mr. John R. Pemberton of Cameron.

The Rev. Lewis M. Boggan, uncle of the bridegroom, officiated. Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. M. W. Boggan and Miss Sharon Laywell, soloist.

Marriage vows were repeated before an alter decorated with candelabra and an arrangement of white mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Eugene Schiller, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie satin fashioned with a V neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bodice was overlaid with alencon lace. The skirt, accented by a lace overlaid satin flap, fell into a long train.

Her elbow length veil of illusion fell from a crown of white peau de soie and alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Barbara Robinson of Belton was maid of honor. Miss Paula Cole of Cameron, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. They wore identical street length dresses of gold satin and carried cascade bouquets of bronze mums.

Marvin Wayne Boggan of Houston, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. Candlelighters were Frankie Conner of Temple and Ray Lynn Harbison of Cameron. Ushers were Gene Pemberton of Temple and William V. Schiller of Little River.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. The brides's table ws covered with a white tulle cloth over linen and centered with a crystal candelabrum and the bridal bouquet.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Jim Reed of San Angelo, Mrs. William V. Schiller of Little River, Mrs. Henry Janacek of Seaton, Mrs. Joe Macek of Temple, Mrs. Frances Cole, Mrs. Donald Lemon and Mrs. Ben Threadgill, all of Cameron.

Italian Cafe Staged For Pleasure - Profit

Mrs. S. D. Ripley was hostess to members of the Pleasure and Profit Club at her home Thursday.

In the atmosphere of an Italian cafe guests were seated at small tables centered with candles burning in tall glasses. The tables were complete with coverings and pencils at each place so that guests could "draw on the tablecloth" if they so desired. Guests enjoyed refreshments of cranberry punch and cookies.
